HELEN HELP US!

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

GENERALIZATION IS CURSE OF TIMES

Dear Helen: I'm married, have three children, all school age. My mother and I disagree on a subject my husband says I must decide for myself. The question: Should I go back to work?

My mother says all working wives are tired, cross, poor wives and mothers; and bucking for a divorce. I say pure housewives tend to be "little home-makers" who have about as far horizons as a "weevil in an oatmeal box." Having gone the PTA and Little League circuit for 10 years, I know. The things women talk about when they get together make my skin crawl: children, husbands, neighbors and recipes, in that order, with how hard they work to scrub the kitchen thrown in for good measure.

What do you think about working wives? I might add I don't need the money as much as a sense of accomplishment. — A.C.

Dear A: I think there's too much generalization about working wives vs. "little home-makers." All of the former are not tired and cranky, BUT they can have just as limited horizons as "pure housewives" whose horizons are limited only by their outreach, not their occupation.

However, if a woman gets no sense of accomplishment from her work at home and finds everything in her orbit "dull," she will soon discover life on the outside is just as boring. She's carrying a bucket of graywash.

It's the person doing it, who makes the job interesting. Rev up your enthusiasm, find that job, and learn to enjoy both your lives. — H.

CASE FOR UNWED FATHERS

Dear Helen: When a 21-year-old woman chases a 16-year-old boy and deliberately gets involved with him to the point where he is almost not responsible, losing out on school work, mooning about getting married, etc., can she be held for "contributing to the delinquency of a minor?" She was 20 when they met.

True, she is the one who is expecting the baby, but she is not the sweet little wronged innocent. Our son had never gone with girls before. He is absolutely crushed by this.

She won't marry him (even if we and the law would allow it) but she demands $2,000 or she will make a big scandal, she says. Our son still insists she can do no wrong. The case for the unwed father is often unstated, Helen. How does he face this? — Mrs. X.

Dear Mrs. X: He faces it with a lawyer, hopefully with his eyes if the girl is willing, the boy often can't think straight for both of them. Later he may feel just as miserable and guilty as she does — though, of course, she shows it more. Yes, Mrs. X, unwed fathers don't get off scot-free either. — H.

Dear Helen: You're right that men don't like "Skinny Minnies." If women live to please males they should heed what my husband always says: "A man likes his arms full, not a stack of bones to love." — Old Minnie With A Young Heart

Television and Radio

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You loved Cary Grant in "To Catch a Thief," didn't you? And "Peter Gunn" and dear old Raffles? Well then, it's a cinch that "T.H.E. Cat," a new NBC entry, will enliven your Friday nights.

The half-hour show, in spite of its tongue-in-cheek title, is carefully designed to combine a lot of tired and true romantic ingredients carefully stirred into an action story.

Blood ties between the series and the old Hitchcock movie thriller are being artfully emphasized. Robert Loggia, who plays the title role, has enjoyed the skilled services of the studio makeup departments, resulting in a general appearance that strongly suggests Cary Grant. But when he speaks, it is with the unsinkable accents of a native New Yorker.

"T.H.E. Cat," is the fanciful name of the hero — Thomas Hewitt Edward Cat — who by a marvelous coincidence is a former circus aerialist turned cat burglar turned professional bodyguard.

The action is based, as it was in "Peter Gunn," another slick bodyguard, in an unnamed city which is obviously San Francisco. And, like Peter Gunn, his headquarters are a fascinating, dimly lighted night club.

This is called Casa del Gato, or, in formal translation from the Spanish, House of the Cat, a name which the NBC censors presumably have inspected and okayed.

Loggia, another of the growing group of Actors' Studio alumni who have leaped happily into television, has been a successful character actor in all three theatrical mediums but a romantic lead is a new adventure.

He is a man of medium height, compactly built, who moves with the silky ease of a dancer or trained athlete — obviously one of the reasons he was picked for the assignment.

The Manhattan-born actor was between scenes of an episode in which he was saving a kidnapped child the other day, whiling away the time in his trailer dressing room by reading Bernard Berenson's memoirs.

"Well, it may be compared to 'To Catch a Thief,'" he observed. "But I like to think that, in the action, we're getting back to the athletic sort of thing. Douglas Fairbanks Sr. did so marvelously in those old romantic movies."

"There will be lots of rooftop chases, and climbing and jumping — and no gimmicks, really. I'll seldom use a gun — I carry a knife, but the fights will be handled with hands and feet, in a variation of one of those Oriental styles of fighting."

Loggia, his wife and three children, have moved into a rented house here but cautiously have sublet their New York apartment. No one can really tell in advance about the success — or failure — of a television series.

Desi Arnaz, whose talent for business is often credited for the initial success of "I Love Lucy," comes back to television next year as the producer of a half-hour comedy series starring Carol Channing.

The show will be written by a pair of veteran "I Love Lucy" writers, filmed with the live-on-tape, three-camera techniques developed for "I Love Lucy," and shot in one of the Desilu studios over which Arnaz once ruled with his then wife, Miss Ball.

Athletics in Victory Over Chisox

By RON RAPAPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
It isn't that Bert Campaneris owns Tommy John exactly, but if there is a latter-day Abraham Lincoln around Tommy would like a word with him.
The state of the Chicago pitcher's seclusion to the slippery Kansas City shortstop reached maddening, slightly ridiculous, proportions Tuesday. Campaneris' single-handedly ruined what could have been a fine job of pitching and a career for the Athletics' 12-victory over the Sox.
Campy scored all the Kansas City runs and had four of its six hits — including three of the five given up by losing pitcher John in the seven innings worked.
But, as usual, it was in the basepaths that Campaneris really did the damage and got John, reliever Hoyt Wilhelm and the rest of the White Sox muttering to themselves.
He began the game by beating out a single to short and moving to second on a sacrifice. Then Danny Cater walked, and the routine plays ended. Campaneris and Cater pulled a double steal and when Sox third baseman Don Buford muffed the throw trying to nail Campaneris, he scored.
In the third, campy tripled and John, perhaps worried more about him than the batter, heaved a wild pitch and Campaneris was home again.
He singled in the fifth and John, who did everything but ignore him, attempted to pick him off. The ball bounded all the way down the right-field line and by the time the Sox caught up with it, Campaneris was home again.
By the eighth, John was gone and Wilhelm was facing Campy, but with no more discernible success. The little speedster singled, stole second, went to third on one passed ball and scored on another one.
Bad Construction on Collapsed Bridge
OTTAWA (AP) — A failure in construction framework has been blamed for the collapse of a section of a bridge in southwest Ottawa last Wednesday that killed eight workmen and injured 50 others.
In a report Monday night to the Ottawa City Council, Works Director Frank Ayers said the temporary frame for the center of the span "apparently dropped vertically." An inquest and a municipal-province investigation are scheduled.

IT'S THAT TIME of year when the National League pennant race grows tighter and tighter and Los Angeles Dodger manager Walter Alston seems to grow more worried by the day.

Mays Figures Homers Will Come Harder

By HAL ROCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Willie Mays, on the threshold of becoming the greatest right-handed home run hitter in baseball history, says the long ones don't come as easy as they once did.
Mays tied Jimmy Foxx for second place on the all-time list with his 534th Tuesday night, helping Gaylord Perry win his 19th game as San Francisco topped St. Louis 3-1.
"I think it's getting harder to hit home runs because of my age," Mays said. "I'm 35, you know. Sometimes I'm not strong enough to swing the bat good."
In spite of his advancing years, Mays' home run output has earned him the National League title in each of the last two years. In fact, the 52 he blasted last year marked his best one-season production ever.
Mays' 334th came leading off the third inning against left-hander Al Jackson. It was Willie's 29th this season and left him four behind Hank Aaron, the National League leader.
Foxx, who sent Mays a telegram congratulating him, said "I hope he hits 600."
"For 25 years they thought only left-handers could hit the long ones," Foxx continued. "I'm happy that another right-hander can prove he can hit."
Elsewhere, first place Pittsburgh blanked New York 3-0 in a game called by rain in the seventh inning. Philadelphia edged Chicago 5-3, Atlanta downed Houston 4-2 and Los Angeles blanked Cincinnati 2-0.
In the American League, Minnesota thumped California 8-1, Kansas City downed Chicago 4-2, Detroit whipped New York 6-3, Washington edged Cleveland 6-5 in 13 innings and Baltimore defeated Boston 6-4.
Mays' historic homer was worth $25, three autographed baseballs and a visit to the Giants' clubhouse to 18-year-old Henry Barenz, who caught the ball as it sailed over the 375-foot sign in right-center field.
"It was a good pitch," said Jackson, who later struck Mays out on a fast ball. "I don't think he was guessing. You don't have to guess to hit a home run."
Pitcher Tommie Sisk was the hero for the Pirates. He held the Mets to a pair of singles, scored one run and drove in another.
His efforts earned Sisk one "Hang in There" and one "Go Get 'Em" in the Pirates' unique award system.
The awards are handed out by The Black Maxes — Pittsburgh's clubhouse cubs, who celebrate every victory with high jinks that would make Olson and Johnson seem refined.
Four straight walks with two out in the eighth inning gave the Phillies their victory over the Cubs.
Tony Gonzalez, who had homered earlier, led off the eighth with a double. After Ferguson Jenkins retired sluggers John Callison and Rich Allen, Bill White was given an intentional walk. Then Clay Dalrymple, Dick Groat and Doug Clemens all drew unintentional walks, forcing in two runs.
Rico Carty scored two runs and Dick Kelley pitched five-hit ball for seven innings as the Braves defeated the Astros. It was Atlanta's seventh victory in the last nine games and Houston's 14th loss of the last 16.
Don Sutton blanked the Reds on two hits and Tommy Davis drove in both Dodger runs with a first inning single that extended his hitting streak to 11 straight games. It was Sutton's 10th victory, the most any rookie pitcher has had for the Dodgers since the club moved to Los Angeles in 1958.

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Tennesseean Mason Rudolph, $20,000 richer after winning the Thunderbird Classic last week, spent Tuesday getting the feel of the Wethersfield Country Club course where the Insurance City Open Golf Tournament will open Thursday.
Forty of the top names of the game were to play a pro-amateur warm up today before the $100,000 event begins. Other Thunderbird high scorers present included Bill Casper and Julius Boros.
Best of the non-exempt pros Tuesday were Joel Goldstrand, 26, of Worthington, Minn., and Terry Dill, 27, of Austin, Tex., who shot seven-under-par 65s at the Tuxis Plantation Country Club.

Bryant Tells of Conflict With Rupp

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul (Bear) Bryant, head football coach at Alabama, wrote today in Sports Illustrated that he originally left Kentucky because of a conflict with basketball coach Adolph Rupp.
Characterizing his leaving as "probably the most stupid thing I ever did," Bryant wrote in the latest of a series of articles appearing in the magazine that his departure had nothing to do with the rumors that he wanted Bernie Shively's job as athletic director.
Bryant wrote that the problem was simply a clash of objectives between himself and Rupp over whether basketball or football should be the university's No. 1 sport. Bryant said if Rupp had retired when Herman L. Donovan, the school's president, wanted him to Bryant would "probably still be there."
Although Bryant wrote that "Rupp and I are real close now and I honestly think a lot of him," he revealed that the basketball scandal of 1953, involving Kentucky players, settled the clash between the two coaches.
According to Bryant, Donovan persuaded him to stay with the promise that it would be Rupp's last season. But Rupp wound up signing a new 10-year contract. "That did it," Bryant wrote.

Gilchrist May End Up With Raiders

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Cookie Gilchrist, whose tiffs with management are well known in pro football, soon may be bucking the line for the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League.
The Denver Broncos are reported close to a deal with the Raiders for the rebellious star fullback, who has refused to play for the Broncos this season.
Mac Speedie, Denver coach, says the deal "has not been consummated yet and may not be for another couple of days." A veteran lineman, whom Speedie would not identify, and several rookies reportedly will switch from Oakland to Denver.
The reported Gilchrist trade highlighted pro activities Tuesday. Many players were cut as the AFL clubs got down to the Aug. 16, 48-player limit.
Boyd Dowler stole the show in the NFL. The Green Bay Packers and snared six passes in practice, ranging far and wide for his grabs.
Ron Mix, a star tackle, and linebacker Frank Buncom were still absent from camp of the San Diego Chargers at Escondido, Calif. The two players, who left Monday, want more money.
Fullback Clarence Peaks suffered a recurrence of a back injury in scrimmage and will be lost to the Pittsburgh Steelers for at least three weeks. Washington got guard Mitch Johnson from Dallas for an undisclosed draft choice.
The Philadelphia Eagles released halfback Jim Brown while the New York Jets put Bob Schweickert, a defensive back, and Jim Waskiewicz, a linebacker, on waivers.
Other cuts included: Oakland, end Loren Hawley, defensive back Lawrence Chambers, tackle Pat Russ; San Francisco, center Paul Gore, linebacker Don Gunaldo, fullback Warren Jackson; San Diego, defensive back Pete Jaquess; Denver, defensive back Jerry Brussell, tackle Charlie Janette; Buffalo, ends Ernie Warlick and Leroy Moore.

Glad to Have the No-Hitter

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Sonny Siebert would read the stories about Gary Peters and Jim Bouton, then he'd imagine the same words being written about him.

This was during the early part of the season when Sonny was trying to pitch with a sprained right index finger which completely upset his rhythm and pitching motion.

A pitcher's arm is a fragile instrument, delicate as a piece of Limoges China. An insignificant finger sprain can cause enough damage to change a career.

It was that way with Bouton and Peters. Big stars the year before, both had arm ailments in 1965 which led to a change in style and then almost total ineffectiveness.

Sonny Siebert spent his winter looking forward to 1966. Rightfully so, because last year he was 16-9 with 191 strikeouts for the Cleveland Indians.

But during spring training at Tucson, Ariz., he suffered the finger sprain which immediately led to changes in his delivery.

"I couldn't throw my fast ball and slider properly," he said. "My curve was all right, but I had changed my motion. I'm a leverage pitcher. Due to the injury I found myself losing the leverage. I started throwing strictly with my arm. And I did not follow through correctly."

After the first two months, he started 10 games and completed only two. His record, however, was 4-3, mainly because the Indians were leading the American League.

Then came the night of June 10 when the righthander faced the Washington Senators.

"I had talked with Early Wynn (the Indians pitching coach) and had an idea what my trouble was," Sonny said. "I pitched batting practice a couple of times and began feeling better."

"Then that night it all worked correctly for the first time. My fast ball and slider were working. So was my curve. I was keeping the ball down, too."

It worked so well that at the end of the evening, Sonny Siebert had pitched a no-hit game.

"It was," he said. "The furthest thing from my mind. I figured if anyone on this club would pitch a no-hitter, it would be Sam (McDowell). He had a couple of one-hitters and was going well."

A few weeks later, Siebert was relieving the game. He displayed no emotion.

"I got the usual response," he said. "The telegrams from people I hadn't heard from in years, telephone calls, all the interviews."

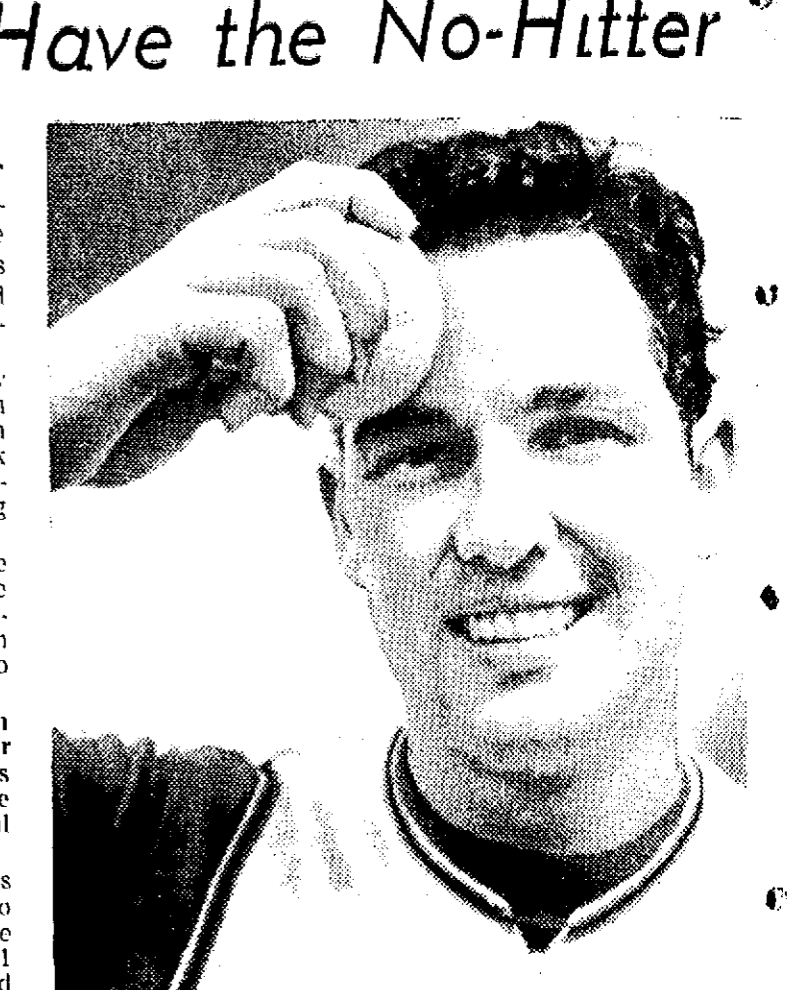

"But it's dying down now and I'm glad. That was the first game this year that I did things the way I should have."

"If I keep relieving it, I'll be in trouble. We have 60 per cent of the season left. I start every four days. If a pitcher is lucky enough to get a no-hitter, fine. But look at how many great pitchers haven't pitched one."

Sonny Siebert is 29. He started as an outfielder in 1958, but Spud Chandler, an Indian coach, convinced him two years later that his future was in pitching.

Two days after the no-hitter, Chandler was in Cleveland for an old-timers game.

"He didn't say much to me," Siebert said. "He just sort of smiled."

OFFENSE

PASSING—They'll need a return to form by Babe Parilli to justify Mike Holavak's optimism for '66. And the Babe's a battered 36. Behind him only John Huarte, who still has skeptics lined up against his side-arm tossing. RATING—B—

RECEIVING—Hoping for a healthy year, finally, from Artie Graham, who could be one of best deep threats. Gino Cappelletti keeps hanging on as split end, with help coming from Joe Bellino or Ellis Johnson (switched from running back). Tony Romeo, Jim Whalen vie for tight end. RATING—B—

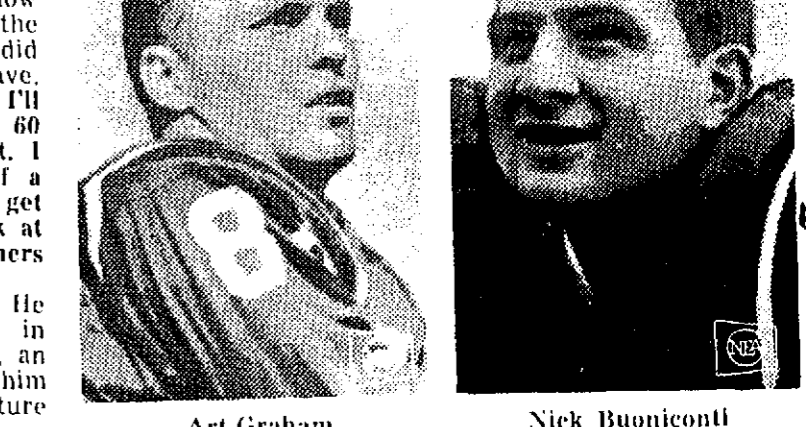

RUNNING—Revelation of early workouts has been Jim Nance, who's down in weight (to 235) and up in speed. Behind him comes rookie Bob Cappadonna. For a running mate to Nance, Larry Garrison is the logical man, but so far he hasn't been able to push ahead of muscular J. D. Garrett. RATING—B—

LINE—Lines up the same as last year, with Jan Morris at center, Charley Long (best up front) and Justin Canale at guards, Don Oakes and Tom Neville at tackles. The difference this year is depth, provided by prize rookie drafties—tackle Karl Singer, All-American guard Dick Arrington. Singer might have a chance to push ahead of Oakes. RATING—B—

KICKING—Considerably boosted with trade acquisition of Jim Frasier, who doubles as linebacker. He's been AFL's top punter three times. No worry about the field goal stuff with Cappelletti in good form. RATING—A—

DEFENSE

LINE—There's room at one tackle spot, where Jim Hunt's position is perilous and John Mangum, a Southern Miss rookie, has looked good. Otherwise, Houston Antwine and ends Larry Eisenhauer, Bob Dee are holdovers.

Art Graham
Nick Buoniconti

Eisenhauer comes off mediocre season, but he has the stuff. Top rookie on flanks is Jim Boudreau. RATING—B—

LINEBACKING—Nick Buoniconti's become the perennial All-AFL choice in the middle. Tommy Addison's a solid vet on the left side, and the ruggedest tackler of them all could be young Lonnie Farmer on the right. They'll get good back up support from Jim Frasier. RATING—B—

SECONDARY—Dick Felt has sparked hopes for improvement with strong comeback from knee operation. He took corner job away from Don Webb, will team with Tom Hennessy. At safeties, Ron Hall and White Graves face a lot of competition from Vic Purvis, the standout rookie on defense. RATING—B—

SUMMARY—Mike Holavak always tends to be optimistic, but this year more so than ever because he likes his rookie crop. The Patriots, as usual, don't have the big individual stars but depend on cohesion to pull them through. Still doubtful, though, is caliber of running game, and Parilli has to be big again for Pats to do anything. PREDICTION—FOURTH

Describes a Visit to a Chinese Home

An AP Special Report EDITOR'S NOTE: Per Kronvall, 19, a Swedish student and budding journalist, visited a Chinese home in Peking during a recently concluded visit to Communist China and in the following story, written for The Associated Press, he reports on the experience.

By PER KRONVALL Written For The Associated Press

In Peking I visited the family of a student. The father worked in a steel mill outside the city. He was a skilled worker and earned 90 yuan—almost $40—a month, about 20 yuan a month more than the average worker. His rent, for a two-room ground-floor apartment in a privately owned house, was seven yuan a month. The father, his wife and another son all worked and had lunches and dinners at their places of employment, with the father and the son paying 16 yuan a month each and the mother 15. The girl of the family, 15 years old, attended school, where she had free meals. Bus fares totaled 20 yuan a month for the family.

I asked the man of the house through his English-speaking son, what he thought of his life. "Everything is good," he replied. "I lead a happy life. I can support my family. We have enough to eat every day."

"What did you do before the liberation?" I asked. "My father worked as a boy, and I also tried to be a servant, but it didn't go so well. The family that my father and I worked for was very kind, even though they were imperialists. They got me a job as a train conductor. My family was not starving, as many others were. Then the war came, and the Japanese occupied China. Then times became even more difficult, and many people starved to death. It was during the Japanese occupation that I started to work in the steel industry."

"Do you have any hobbies?" I asked. "Not really," he replied. "In the summer I often sit and play cards with my neighbors. We often go to the movies together. Then, of course, the production teams make a lot of arrangements."

"Like what?" I asked. "It's very good. They make arrangements to have my hair cut in the factory. They also arrange for me to go to a bathhouse. And you don't have to pay anything."

Then I turned to the son, who was 18 years old and worked in his father's trade. Because he was just learning he received only 30 yuan a month. "What are your future plans?" I asked. "I want to be a skilled worker like my father, and perhaps I will be chosen for a responsible position in the factory."

"Will you get any extra money for this kind of job?" I asked. "No, why should I? It is a privilege to work as a leader."

"Do all the people think that it is good to do much extra work and get no reward?" I asked. "Yes. There are some who say no, but it is only because they read too little of the works of Mao Tse-tung."

While I was talking to the young man, the father started to read his pocket edition of Mao's works. I don't know if this act was to show me his admiration for Mao or what.

I asked the mother, who was a nurse in one of the Peking hospitals, about the prices of consumer goods. She let me know that food products like rice, tea and meat were only sold to those who had food coupons. One also needed coupons to buy cotton goods. Vegetables were quite inexpensive. A kilo of rice—2.2 pounds—cost 20 jin or 10 cents. Clothes were costly. A pair of simple blue pants cost 4.60 yuan. A summer shirt cost just as much. Winter clothes were even more expensive. And such things as nylon shirts cost 17 yuan, about one-fifth of the average monthly salary. But in China, she told me, salaries never went up; prices came down. I asked if there was any product that had gone up in price. The only price increase she mentioned was bread.

"What kind of social benefits do you have?" I asked. "Well," the father responded, "I and my second son have full medical aid insurance; so does my wife, because we all work. But my two other children who are still studying, get only 50 per cent protection. But if one must undergo an expensive operation the union helps him so that one only needs to pay about 15 yuan. For example, when our neighbor's boy fell and broke two of his side teeth he had to go to the dentist many times. His parents paid about nine yuan. Before the liberation the poor working people never could afford to go to dentists or doctors."

The girl wore a red scarf around her neck which I could tell made her a member of the Pioneers (a Communist youth organization). She told me about different activities she had. Before, she used to go out during vacation to work in state farms but now she had a lot of different meetings to attend. "What kind of meetings?" I asked.

"We sit and listen to how our instructors tell about our country's revolutionary history. And we also read Mao Tse-tung's works," she said proudly.

"Think of it," the father said. "Thanks to the revolution and Chairman Mao, my children have a future. We are happy and never had it so good. I even have a bicycle, although I don't really need one. If someone would have told me that my life would be so pleasant before the liberation, I would have laughed."

Old Liners Don't Change in Communism

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Red Chinese wrote a fairy tale over the weekend.

No group in history ever faced a more gruesome, gigantic or frustrating task than the Chinese Reds when they took over their country in 1949 and had to rush it and 700 million people out of antiquity in a hurry.

They have made tremendous progress, led by men like Mao Tse-tung, who for years were fanatic in their zeal to do what they finally had a chance to do.

Now they are old but still fanatic, for this was the only way of life they knew and it is too late for change. This has been the history of others, like Stalin.

Others in China realized rigidity is the condition of a corpse and change a condition of life: that in time through the evolutionary process political Hearing Is Restored After 45 Yrs.

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The sounds of the world barely existed for Harry Michels for the last 45 years when an operation brought back his hearing he wanted the world to know.

He bought space on a billboard to thank his doctor in letters as big as his gratitude.

But a group of doctors found the sign "highly unethical," and threatened to bring Michels' doctor before a judicial committee of the county medical society if it did not come down.

Michels, who intended the sign partly as a surprise for his physician, Dr. Floyd M. Guskack of Plainfield, commented, "I never dreamed the doctor would get into trouble. But I think I got my point across anyway."

Aware that doctors are not ethically allowed to advertise, Michels said, "This is different, it's me advertising."

The sign comes down today, with its message: "Dr. Floyd Guskack. . . I will be forever grateful for your medical skills. . . Harry Michels."

parties change to adjust like bananas, crocodiles and people. They have seen Communist rule around the world change — as in Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union — surrendering dogma to necessities and ideology to reality, but the critics of Mao's regime were purged.

Early this month the Chinese Communist party's Central Committee met for 12 days and then issued a communique which sounded in part like something from another world.

The fairy tale was in the euphoria about economic, agricultural and industrial successes. No doubt Red China was moving forward. But you would never guess it had any setbacks, made any mistakes. It had to have had them, with its vast problems. It simply did not admit them.

There was one thing you would guess: it is being careful about trying a second "great leap forward." It tried a "great leap" in 1958 — under Mao's prodding, a radical collectivization of farm and factory — that turned into a great disaster.

This weekend's communique did not promise a great leap. It may have hinted at one.

The bitter break with the Soviet Union looks deeper than ever. The communique not only accused the Soviets of betraying communism and safeguarding capitalism but even of trying to restore capitalism.

Yet, there was a pathetic sense of loneliness and reaction about the communique for more reasons than one:

1. Red China set itself up as the leader of the world Communist movement, knowing as it did so, that one by one other countries, Communist or non-Communist, are beginning to look on her dubiously or break away.

2. The whole communique, while its purpose may be to assure internal discipline, is a groveling, cringing, deification of a man, Mao, which makes an obscenity of all other intellectuals in China because, compared with him, all others look like

In effect the Chinese people are being taken down the most reactionary of all roads. Instead of being urged to seek new values, insights and understandings they are being told the answers are all in and that in all history only three men have had them: Mao, Marx, and Lenin.

Jim and his wife Judy are conducting a bridge cruise to Hawaii this October. His father is reminded that just before Jim was born the older Jacobys assisted the Culbertsons in running a similar cruise to Bermuda. Jim was along most unofficially.

Oswald: "Here is a hand bid by the Culbertsons against a Bermuda team in a match we played while spending a few days in Bermuda."

Jim: "The seven spade contract is certainly a good one to reach. With 11 high card points opposite 16 I doubt if many modern pairs would get past six. Will you explain the Culbertson bidding?"

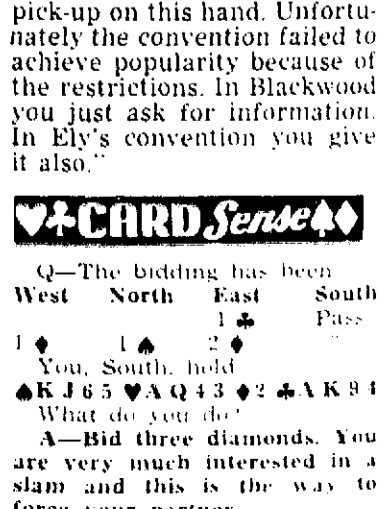

Oswald: "Delighted. Ely had just invented the Culbertson 4-5 no-trump. In this convention the four no-trump bid shows either three aces or two aces and a king of a bid suit. The five no-trump response shows either two aces or one ace and the kings of all bid suits. Thus when North bid five no-trump South was looking at three aces of his own and knew that North had to be showing the other ace and the two important kings. It was no problem for him to go right to the grand slam after receiving that information."

Jim: "It would be impossible to get that information across by either regular or Roman Blackwood. What went wrong with this Culbertson convention?"

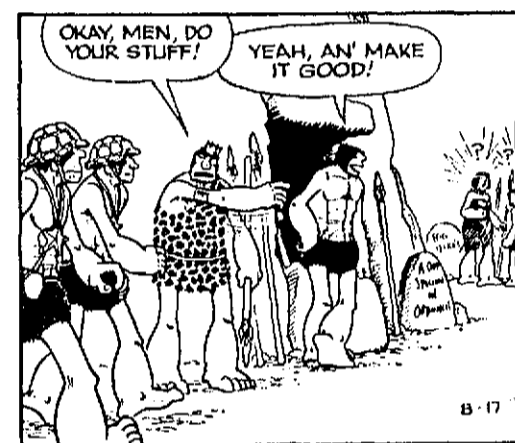

Oswald: "It worked perfectly on this hand. In fact the Bermuda pair who held the North-South cards against us did not even get past four spades so we made a real pick-up on this hand. Unfortunately the convention failed to achieve popularity because of the restrictions. In Blackwood you just ask for information. In Ely's convention you give it also."

Bonus For Unemployment?

One of the last citadels of state's rights and state's responsibilities is employment compensation. In others, it is politically begged. Under one feature of a 1 amended by the Senate Finance Committee and now before the full Senate, unemployment compensation would be equalized and rates of joblessness would be substantially increased.

The vehicle for all of this is R 8282. Features of HR 8282 rejected by the House are being written into the version now before the Senate, HR 15119. Last February we noted that Senate Minority Leader Dirksen had predicted that if HR 8282 was brought to a vote it would really raise hell.
 He added: "Well sir, stoke the fire, for here it comes." And last, in the Senate version, it does.

Some of the states perhaps have invited a federal take-over of miserly jobless payments and usual administration. Florida is tenth from the bottom in weekly benefits and about $8 below the national average. But this is no warrant to go in one swoop to the opposite, particularly in a time of high employment, high wages and threatening inflation.
 The unemployed produce nothing.
 Indulgent high compensation would encourage joblessness and thus contribute to inflation.

Employers pay all costs of unemployment compensation.
 Those with "good" employment records get a tax break. This feature would be phased out or manipulated in order to fix a certain standard — based on the state's average wage or 50 per cent of the previous wage of the unemployed person — for all the states. The effect on Florida would be an added annual tax of $235 per employee, or nearly $120 million a year.

"Thus HR 8282 is only another name," as we said previously,
 "for a wage, or living, subsidy, with control finally surrendered to Washington in every direction." Is this the kind of shackle to place upon the economy in these tense times?
 We think not. We hope the Senate will come to its senses and agree. — Miami (Fla.) Herald.

Their Own Doorsteps

Tourists are usually singled out as the culprits responsible for the litter on the nation's highways. They have been unjustly accused, according to the Nebraska Information and Tourism Division.

They cite a survey made recently by Keep America Beautiful, the organization spearheading the national anti-litter drive. People involved in the litter problem in all 50 states were asked: Who produces the most litter — local residents or tourists?

An overwhelming 78 per cent of the respondents indicted local residents, while only 13 per cent blamed tourists. The others had no opinion. The majority report was summed up by one respondent in these words:
 "Like auto accidents, most littering occurs within 25 miles of home." — Anniston (Ala.)

Lending Rate Hike
Brings Plea From
Johnson to BanksHarrison Clings to Slim Lead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Wyoming Rep. William Harrison, a conservative Republican who was turned out of office in the Democratic sweep of 1964, clung to a slim lead today in his comeback bid.

A heavy crush of late ballots delayed counting in Tuesday's Wyoming primary, but Harrison, 70, held a 800-vote lead over Roy Peck, 44, a Riverton newspaper publisher, with two-thirds of the vote tallied.

Research Chemist
Fails in Swim

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A research chemist, trying to become the first to swim the Pacific Ocean from the Farallon Islands to the Golden Gate, was pulled from the water today, two miles from his goal.

Ted A. Erikson, 38, of Chicago, had been in the frigid water 17 hours when he was taken from the water two miles south of Point Bonita, the land that put the Pacific Coast into the ocean and the San Francisco Bay into the bay.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reacting to a wave of increases in prime lending rates, the Johnson administration has urged banks to curb credit expansion by saying "no" to more prospective borrowers.

This could apply to the little fellow who wants a loan for a car, a house or other purposes as well as a big business firm seeking a major loan.

In rapid-fire order Tuesday, commercial banks in several cities increased their prime lending rates for the fourth time in a year, this time to 6 per cent.

Other banks across the country were expected to follow suit today. There was no solid indication President Johnson could try to roll back the boost or talk the bankers out of it.

The prime lending rate — that charged the largest and most creditworthy customers like big corporations — forms the basis for the commercial interest rate structure.

Thus, when a bank's best customer is charged 6 per cent, other borrowers may be charged 6.5 per cent, 7 per cent or more. Experts said pressure will be placed on installment and other small loans, but supplies of money for personal or consumer loans will tend to be available, although at higher rates.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler issued the plea for restraint after the First National City Bank of New York initiated the increase by raising one-fourth of 1 per cent its lowest interest rate for business loans of 90 days or more.

Showdown
on Reserve
Callup Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators face a showdown today on a proposal to give President Johnson authority to call up thousands of young military reservists — now exempt — for possible combat duty in Viet Nam.

The President has not asked for such authority.

The reserves proposal and other controversial riders — including a proposed $522.5-million slash — upset plans of Senate leaders to complete passage Tuesday of a massive $58 billion-plus defense money bill.

Needing a two-thirds majority to add their reserve callup proposal to the appropriation measure, Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., based their appeal on fair treatment for draftees and volunteers in the Southeast Asia.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, presumably with White House backing, has rejected congressional suggestions that the citizen-soldiers be called to active duty.

The Russell-Saltonstall proposal would permit Johnson to call to active duty for 18 months any ready reservist whose previous service was limited to training. Existing law limits the active service of a reservist to one year unless a national emergency has been called.

Neither Congress nor the President has done so in the Viet Nam.

But Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said some GOP senators oppose calling up the reservists. He said it may be difficult to obtain a two-thirds margin.

Officials estimated that more than 500,000 ready reservists, including the 133,000 who Russell and Saltonstall say lack basic training, would come under the Senate proposal.

Senate Will Reopen Bitter
TFX Hearing

By BEM PRICE
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee plans to reopen the whole bitter question of whether the United States is buying a second-best warplane — the TFX — to save $1 billion.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, said so Tuesday in the Senate without specifying just exactly when.

Presumably, however, the hearing will be held prior to the time the Navy has to decide whether its version of the TFX, called the F111B, is useful. The Navy will reach a conclusion next March or April.

In a brief, off-the-floor interview, McClellan said he would propose an amendment, probably today, to the $59-billion defense appropriations bill forbidding the Pentagon to procure F111Bs through the expenditure of appropriated but unused funds.

The present appropriation bill does not include money for the purchase of the F111B beyond the five included in a research and development contract with the General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex.

Protesters
Disrupt
HUAC Hearing

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — More members of antiwar groups that brand the United States as an aggressor in Viet Nam face questioning today by the House Committee on Un-American Activities after a tumultuous opening day punctuated by repeated crowd outbursts and 17 arrests.

Minutes before the committee plunged into its hearings on bills aimed at Americans who help the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, a three-judge federal court lifted an order by U.S. Dist. Judge Howard F. Corcoran forbidding the session. But it directed a further hearing today on a constitutional challenge to the committee's authority.

Scores of police and federal marshals patrolled the sprawling caucus room in the old House Office Building, and surrounding marble corridors. Although congressional staff aides got most of the 300 seats, bursts of laughter and applause echoed from the audience throughout the day.

Nine persons were dragged or carried out by police after leaping to their feet and shouting challenges to the committee. Another eight were arrested as several hundred supporters of the antiwar witnesses milled and jostled in corridors hoping to get seats.

The committee devoted its morning session and part of the afternoon to laying the groundwork for an allegation that such antiwar groups as the May 2nd Movement are controlled by Communist organizations such as the Progressive Labor Movement and the Progressive Labor party.

Phillip A. Luce, an author and former member of the Progressive Labor Movement, testified that the antiwar groups represented only a small minority of American youth. Since leaving the Progressive Labor Movement, he said he has been "trying to tell other young people about the pitfalls of communism."

The Progressive Labor Movement, he said, is a pro-Peking group expelled from the U.S. Communist party for "leftist deviation."

It was something of a switch for Luce who three years ago was ejected from a committee hearing dealing with a trip to Cuba by a group called Students for Travel to Cuba. His testimony Tuesday prompted Jeffery Gordon, a Progressive Labor party leader from New York, to leap to his feet and shout:

"Let's stop this flim (testimony) U.S. get out of Viet Nam."

Gordon was hustled out of the chamber and taken to a police station where he was charged with disorderly conduct.

Along with many of the others, Gordon was back for the afternoon session at which he was called to testify. His testimony brought frequent bursts of laughter from the audience and some of the committee members. He insulted the committee, quoted the Bill of Rights, denounced the war in Viet Nam and extolled the May 2nd Movement.

Costing $1.6 Million Into Village

Actual work begins here Thursday on a 4-site federal housing project of 140 units that will cost in excess of $1,600,000.

Jack Bracy, North Little Rock contractor, plans to start work on all four sites Thursday. Completion is expected in about 15 months.

Two of the tracts are for the elderly and two for general public. All are low cost housing units.

One tract is located near the old Basket Factory; another adjoins the northeast corner of the Fair Park fence; another is across behind Hopewell school and joins Old Highway 67; the fourth is between Old Highway 67 and North Hazel at an old school site.

The project is under supervision of the Federal Housing Authority. Mike Kelly heads the City Housing Commission.

Rockefeller Opens His Campaign

WINTHROP, Ark. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, the Republican candidate for governor, made a sentimental journey to this Little River County town Tuesday and promised the state would experience remarkable improvements if he is elected.

Rockefeller was opening his general election campaign battle against the Democratic nominee, Jim Johnson.

Rockefeller opened his 1964 campaign here, too.

"Which of us can do the most for the state of Arkansas?" he asked.

"Imagine what we could do for the people of Arkansas if we had an elected role in Arkansas," Rockefeller said. "If you elect me governor, the improvements and economy for you would be remarkable, indeed."

Rockefeller, who perspired heavily, said he was starting his 1966 campaign at 220 pounds, 15 pounds above his

Propaganda
War Object
of Hearing

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright leads his Senate Foreign Relations Committee today into a probe of how the United States is waging another side of the Viet Nam war — the propaganda battle.

He called Leonard H. Marks, chief of the U.S. Information Agency, to explain some of his agency's efforts to swing foreign opinion on the war, such as paying the fare for some 27 overseas journalists to visit Viet Nam.

Fulbright said he saw no reason to keep such an operation secret and added that the committee members also might want to question Marks about other USIA activities in influencing foreign opinion.

As the hearings open, the highest administration praise Fulbright has heard in months was still ringing in his ears.

Fulbright, who has been at odds with the Johnson administration for months over Viet Nam policy, drew lavish praise Tuesday from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Marine jet fighter-bomber heavily laden with bombs and fuel crashed into a Vietnamese village shortly after takeoff from Da Nang airport today. At least 26 villagers were killed.

The pilot, identified as 1st Lt. Walter J. Doherty, 22, Gold Hill, Ore., miraculously escaped serious injury. His parachute failed to open after he ejected, but his fall was broken by a tree.

A spokesman at the scene said the plane, an F8E Crusader, was carrying two 1,000-pound bombs. One of the bombs exploded as did 20mm cannon ammunition.

The crashing plane leveled a number of small Vietnamese homes. Others were set afire.

On the battleground, a U.S. Marine amphibious assault force of more than 1,000 men, which landed Tuesday on the shore of the South China Sea 100 miles east of Saigon, moved inland into dense jungle and swamplands believed to be hiding a Viet Cong division.

The landing was unopposed. By noon today, advance elements of the Marine force had reached coastal Highway No. 1 without meeting the enemy.

The Leathernecks came ashore in amphibious tracked vehicles and helicopters from seven U.S. Navy ships, including the assault carrier two Jima, from which the helicopters were launched. The landing was preceded by a saturation bombardment of the shore by cruisers, destroyers and rocket ships.

The Marines, who called their operation Deckhouse 3, were landed as a blocking force for Operation Toledo, a combined U.S.-Vietnamese search and destroy sweep that began Aug. 10 against the Viet Cong 5th Division.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, ground action was light, a result in part of heavy monsoon rains.

Air Issues

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Mayor Richard J. Daley meet today to discuss open housing but not to seek a halt to the increasing number of protest marches.

Other civic and civil rights leaders were to participate in the conference as well.

The confrontation between King and Daley will be the first since July 11. At that time, King received no specific commitments on a list of civil rights demands.

The next day, riots broke out on the West Side. An expanding series of demonstrations began late last month.

Today's conference was called by the Chicago Conference on Race and Religion in an effort to resolve the question of alleged discrimination by real estate firms in Chicago.

The Rt. Rev. James W. Montgomery, bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago and chairman of the CCRR, has reiterated the meeting is not intended to urge a halt to the marches.

Marshall Raps
Lawlessness

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Thurgood Marshall, the first Negro to become U.S. solicitor general, said Tuesday that neither race nor color nor frustration is an excuse for either lawlessness or anarchy.

Marshall attacked the "rock throwers and Molotov cocktail throwers" during a speech to the national convention of Alpha Phi Alpha, a Negro fraternity to which he belongs.

Marshall, formerly of Pine Bluff, Ark., also said Negro business and professional men should use their money to aid ghetto Negroes. "Go down into the ghetto. We know where it is, a whole lot of us started there," Marshall said.
